

Bradley visits health care center

Senator Jeb Bradley and Vanessa Santarelli of BI-State Primary Care Association visited White Mountain Community Health Center. The senator, Santarelli and Patricia McMurry, executive director of the health center, discussed the challenges of budgetary constraints at the state and federal level. During the visit, Senator Bradley noted the importance of savings in health care dollars achieved through the structure of community health centers throughout the state of New Hampshire including White Mountain Community Health Center. Pictured above from left to right are: Patricia McMurry, Jeb Bradley and Vanessa Santarelli.